

Urgent Suspected Cancer Referral (USC) Patient Information Leaflet

What is an urgent suspected cancer referral?

Your GP has arranged an urgent assessment by a specialist team. This is to investigate your symptoms. You may have some tests to find out what is wrong and if it could be cancer.

A USC referral means that you should be given information about whether you have cancer or not within 28 days of the referral being received by the hospital.

Why am I being urgently referred?

The signs and symptoms you have may be caused by some common conditions, but it is important that the hospital knows about your GP's concerns so that they can investigate your condition including checking for cancer.

Most people referred on an urgent suspected cancer referral do not have cancer.

How is my appointment made?

You may be given your appointment by the GP practice, or the hospital may contact you by telephone or letter in the next few days.

- Check the GP practice has your up to date contact details.

If you do not get a call or appointment within 1 week, please contact the hospital by telephone 0191 445 2995.

Tell your GP practice if it is difficult for you to manage a telephone call or if you have any other communication needs or need a translator.

What if I cannot attend the appointment offered?

It is very important that you attend your appointment. If you can't make it, contact the hospital on 0191 445 2995 as soon as you can to re-arrange it.

Your GP believes your symptoms need to be investigated as soon as possible. Your first appointment with the specialist is very important, wherever you can please make it a priority. This appointment may be by telephone.

How do I get to the hospital?

If you cannot use public transport, drive, or arrange your own transport you may be able to use the ambulance patient transport service.

What will happen at my appointment?

Details on what will happen at your first appointment, and any tests you might need, will usually be sent with your appointment confirmation.

For many people, the first contact from the hospital might be by telephone. The team will discuss your referral with you.

To help your specialist to understand the cause of your symptoms you may need some tests eg blood tests, scans. The tests may be needed either:

- Before you see your specialist
- During your first specialist appointment
- Or, arranged by the specialist after your first appointment.

In some cases, the specialist team will review your case and no tests will be needed.

You may find it useful to write down any questions you want to ask during your appointment.

The specialist team will give you a lot of information and many people find it helpful to take a friend or relative along with them for support.
